

THE OBJECTIVES OF THE PROJECT ARE...

- Strengthen and implement services, methodologies and tools provided by the system of vocational education and training and employment services, according to the needs of the areas involved and young people.
- Bring public and private stakeholders (local authorities, work agencies, employment centers, SMEs, actors of the VET, etc.) and target groups (NEETs, young unemployed or at risk of social marginalization, early school leavers, etc.), to design together processes to implement and strengthen networks and services through a participatory approach and networking activities.
- Improve the performance of education systems and vocational training and employment services from the Youth Guarantee Scheme and other European good practices.
- Identify and promote social interventions and targeted policies, adapted on the specific needs and characteristics of different subgroups that make up the NEET in the countries involved.
- To promote timely and effective measures of educational or professional insertion aimed at young people who have left education or training.
- Implement new methods and strategies of professional guidance to get a suitable job and avoid skill mismatches.
- Promoting policies to support the transition phases School-Work, as these phases are delicate and crucial to prevent a fall in the condition of NEET.

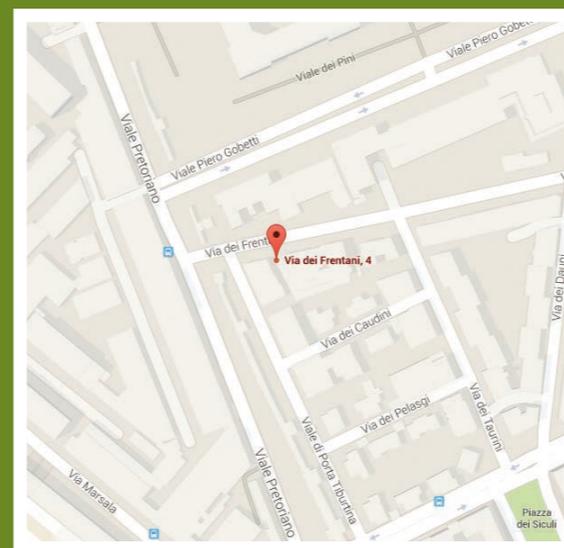

Dear Mr/Ms,

we are very pleased to invite you to the Final Conference of NNN Project - NETnotNEET which will be held in Rome on 17th of December. The Conference will be an opportunity to meet and discuss with policy makers, young people, key actors of VET and Employment systems on policy and strategies to contrast and prevent early school leaving and NEET (Not in Employment Education or Training) issues in Europe.

During the Final Conference a DVD publication will be available.

Dear Mr/Ms,

we are very pleased to invite you to the Final Conference of NNN Project - NETnotNEET which will be held in Rome on 17th of December. The Conference will be an opportunity to meet and discuss with policy makers, young people, key actors of VET and Employment systems from European Commission and many European Countries, on policy and strategies to contrast and prevent early school leaving and NEET (Not in Employment Education or Training) issues in Europe.

NNN project wants to strengthen networking and cooperation, enhancing public and private resources, to improve the performance of the system of vocational education and training and employment services, involving public authorities to provide interventions focused on the needs of young people NEET in turn directly involved in the project. NNN is based on a double layer of complementary strategies:

1) Bottom-up: NEET groups were involved in Forums and Laboratories of dialogue, to define and collect new proposals for the implementation of methodologies and tools aimed at improving the provision of education and vocational training and employment services, according to the needs and expectations of young people themselves.

2) Top-down: public and private education systems and vocational training and employment services were involved in peer reviews to evaluate the impact of good practices (such as the Youth Guarantee Scheme). Expert systems of education and vocational training and employment services and NEET people met in dueling moderator focus groups, where they processed at the two points of view synthesis (bottom-up and top-down). The results of each focus group contributed to the definition of National Strategy papers, with recommendations for policy makers and local stakeholders. The documents were used for the establishment of a Transnational strategy paper, defined through a Transnational Laboratory, with the assistance of representatives of the NEET groups involved, the systems of education and vocational training, employment services and European experts.
